Learn More about EY's Early Leadership Programs

Do technology and business spark your interest? Here at EY, we have exciting programs available for freshmen and sophomores to gain exposure to different opportunities at EY – including Technology Consulting!

- Emerging Leaders Program (ELP): A program held in New York City. Here you'll learn more about our culture, people and practices while forging relationships with EY employees and fellow students.
- Women in Technology (WIT) Consulting Conference: A program for self-identifying females majoring in STEM to learn about technology professions and hear from female leaders who have successfully crafted technology careers.
- Launch internship: A summer internship tailored specifically for accounting and/or IT majors from underrepresented groups in the profession (African-American, Hispanic, Native American) who are two or more years from final graduation.
