

Information Technology- 2018 Summer Analyst Program

*Information Session: 5:00 pm on September 20, 2017
Wesley J. Howe Center, Fielding Room*

Application Deadline: September 22nd, 11:59pm
On-Campus Interview Date: October 4, 2017

Nomura is offering Summer Internship positions as the perfect preparation for a subsequent full time role. We aim to provide interns with the same level of exposure as a first-year analyst, participating in all situations as full members of the team. They are expected to form effective working relationships and to demonstrate a commitment to the firm's goals and values. During the course of the internship, interns benefit from working closely with a buddy and interacting regularly with a senior mentor. We also ensure extensive contact with Nomura professionals at all levels through training, seminars and informal social functions.

Requirements:

- Pursuing a Bachelors or Masters degree in Computer Science or related fields
- Graduation between December 2018 and June 2019

- Knowledge or conceptual understanding of infrastructure
- Solid fundamental base in logical, analytical data structure; hands on programming, and problem solving

Desired skillset:

- Strong communication and interpersonal relationship skills
- Strong organizational and time management skills
- Critical thinking skills
- Outstanding technical and analytical skills
- Ability to understand financial products
- Ability to effectively balance time between day-to-day support work and project-related tasks
- Candidates must be meticulous & ready to take on challenges, as the team deals with mission critical applications.
