You are invited to attend A Maintainers Movement Fellow Event

Tropical Fungi Summit

Wednesday, March 30 | 4 – 5:30 PM EDT Register Here

What can we learn from fungi for a more caring and regenerative society and planet? The hope of this event is to inspire many about the regenerative role of mushrooms in the Tropics and beyond. There is much still to learn!

In these difficult times, there is a lot that can be learned from mushrooms– from lessons in ecology, agribusiness, gastronomy, medicine and design. Mushrooms are the future and this event will be a fung-tastic exploration into their world, especially in the Tropics, where there is little known. In this event, we'll look at mushrooms as regenerative teachers for care, repair, and maintenance through the lens of a forest guide, scientist, mushroom cultivator, chef, psychedelic integration coach, and designer. Mushrooms serve as symbols of solidarity, and support our society and planet in endless ways than we can even imagine.

Join Maintainers Movement Fellow Rheanna Chen as she introduces six unique perspectives on how fungi can play a role in creating a more caring and regenerative society and planet.

Carl Fitzjames: Forest guide, Scientist – Trinidad Chris Martin: Mushroom Cultivator – Trinidad

Justine Garcia: Chef – Trinidad

Ana Montano: Psychedelic Integration Coach – Trinidad

Sam Bennett: Designer - NY

Special Guest: William Goss – Mycologist of 14 years in California